HUGE WILSON WAVE ENGULFING THE EAST

Dependable Reports Show President Will Carry New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Delaware

MASSACHUSSETTS DOUBTFUL; OLD GUARD CALLS FOR HELP

Even RockribbedRepublican Pennsylvania Yielding—Republican National Headquarters Plunged in Gloom

President Wilson will carry New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Delaware. He has an even chance of carrying Massachusetts and he has become so popular in Pennsylvania that the normal Republican majority in that State is in grave danger.

The huge Wilson wave that has been sweeping through the country has reached the East, and so tremendous has it become that the breaking up of the once solid Republican New England now seems assured. So serious is the Republican outlook in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts that Senator Bois Penrose and ex-Senator Murray Crane, the Old Guard bosses in those States, have been begging for help from Republican Chairman Willcox.

The Hughes campaign managers are badly scared as a result of the reports from the Eastern States. Like the reports from the West and the Middle West, they show so strong a trend toward President Wilson that some of Candidate Hughes's closest friends have practically given up the fight. Around Republican National Headquarters the gloom is thick. Candidates, bureau heads and workers are filled with it. Chairman Willcox is doing his best to keep up a show of courage, but with poor success. What is more,, the men around Republican Headquarters don't care who knows about their depression. They are sick and tired of the liveless struggle, and only long for the agony to be over.

Predict 100,000 in New York State

The situation in New York State couldn't be better. With a militant, loyal and united Democratic organization back of the President, there is every indication that hewill carry the Empire State by a plurality of at least 100,000. In New York City the workers of Tammany Hall are doing their level best to give the President a record plurality. In all of the Democratic districts of the city the registration shows a big increase while in the Republican strongholds there is a big falling off. Charles F. Murphy has sent out word that every Tammany orator must urge the re-election of President Wilson, and there is a corps of them in automobiles nightly combing the city.

Up State the reports show that many thousands of Republican farmers are going to vote for President Wilson's re-election because they are happy and prosperious and because the country is at peace. They are enthusiastic for the President because he has kept the country out of the European war, and they are afraid that the election of Hughes would mean that this country would be drawn into the conflict.

"President Wilson will carry New York by more than 100,000 votes," says Edwin S. Harris, Chairman of the New York Democratic State Committee. "The President has a militant Democratic organization behind him, together with the support of a large number of Republicans who believe that his re-election is necessary for the safety and well-being of the country. No less than fifty thousand Republicans have declared their intention to vote for the re-election of the President, and many more of them say that other Republicans have told them that they are going to do the same thing."

Thomas F. Smith, Secretary of Tammany Hall, says that this is a Wilson year.

"Despite the millions of dollars Mr. Hughes is backed with, he is making the poorest campaign any Republican Presidential candidate has conducted within my memory." said Mr Smith. "President Wilson will be re-elected and by a surprisingly large majority. Tammany Hall is doing its part."

Wilson Trend in New Jersey

The trend toward President Wilson in New Jersey is so pronounced that Edward E. Grosscup, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, is confident of a plurality of not less than 25,000.

Reports from Connecticut are that not only will President Wilson carry the State, but also that a Democratic United States Senator will be elected. Homer S. Cummings, Vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is the Democratic candidate for Senator. The workingmen of Connecticut are for President Wilson's re-election practically unanimously.

So strong has the President become in Massachusetts that hurry calls for help have been sent out by W. Murray Crane and the Republican managers. The popularity of President Wilson among the thousands of mill workers in Massachusetts has the Hughes managers badly scared. Methew Hale, the Progressive leader, declares that the President will carry the State by a large plurality.

"The President will hold the normal Democratic vote," he says, "and will have the support of a huge number of Progressives and independents

Woodrow Wilson.

Message of President Wilson To His Countrymen

Saturday, October 28

The President's address follows:

My Fellow-citizens:

This is called "Wilson Day" only because for 6 years, first as Governor of New Jersey andthen as President of the United States, I have been permitted to lead first a great state and then a great national party along the ways of progress and of enlarged and regenerated life which our people had so long sought and so long been held back from by the organized power of selfish interest, and because, the great honor has fallen to me of being chosen once more spokesman and representative of the men who mean to hold the country to these waysof peace humanity and progress. It is of these forces that I speak and not of myself, who am merely their servant.

What are these forces? Whence do they spring? What have they accomplished, and what is their programme and purpose for the future? It is plain what they are. They are the forces of humane, righteous, and patriotic purpose which have sprung up in our day in the minds of those who perceive the shortcomings of the law as it has hardened in America and who look forward with purpose and conviction to a new age in which government shall be indeed the servant of liberty and not of privilege. These are men who perceive that American law has not kept pace with American sentiment; that our law has been holding us rigid and immovable, until class has begun, in free America, to be arrayed against class; until what was legal has begun to play a more important part in our thoughts and determinations than what is human and right; and until America has begun to lag instead of lead in reconciling what is with what ought to be.

A new age had dawned upon us while those who were attempting to lead us were stumbling along with their heads over their shoulders, intent upon preserving the conditions of a day that is gone. America had changed and the whole world had changed. Our commerce and industry had grown to such a bulk that the domestic markets of which our former leaders were always so solicitious were gutted and we were bound, unless we were to burst our jacket, to find a free outlet into the market of the world. The time had come when our commerce needed freedom and would be throttled by further restraints. We had acquired foreign possessions, had been drawn into the politics of the world, had begun to play a part which could not be played by provincials but must be played by citizens of the great world of nations. And yet we had not altered our policy or our point of view. The great European war has served at least to show us this one thing, that the world itself had changed; that it had become at once too big a world and too little a world to submit its destines to the hostile rivalries and ambitions now of this and again of that member of the great family of men; too compact, too intimate in its contacts, too universal in its ways of intercourse, to make it any longer possible to limit the effects of any nation's action to a single, seperate sphere where the rest would be untouched. An inevitable partnership of interests has been thrust upon the nations. They are neighbors and must accommodate their interests to one another, or else disturb the lives and embarrass the fortunes of men everywhere. No wonder that in such an age men in America should be cried awake and feel once more, as they felt them in the days when their great republic was set up, the compulsions of humanity and of justice!

These are the freshening winds blowing out of the life of mankind everywhere, that have brought on a new day in American politics. We have looked once more very critically at our own laws and our own practices and have set about to square them with the actual conditions of our life and of the world.

Four years ago there were two parties in the field whose programme was conceived under the influence of these great forces of progress and adjustment, the Democratic party and the Progressive party. This year there is but one, the Democratic party. In the presidential election of four years ago some fifteen million votes were cast. Of these, nearly ten and a half millions were cast for the candidates of the two progressive parties, only three and a half millions for the candidate ofthe Republican party, the party which lingered in the old ways and felt none of the new impulse of a new day. More than two-thirds of the voters of the United States favored then, and favor now, a programme whose object is to serve the changing needs of humanity and progress.

The Democratic party was entrusted with the task These powerful forces of the new age were put under its direction. And under that direction what have they accomplished? They have put both the business and the life of the country upon a new footing They have released the financial credit, upon which commerce and production alike depend, from the control of small groups of financiers and bankers at the speculative centers. They have released the commerce and industry of the country from the domination of those who were building up their power by selfish and unfair methods of competition. They have supplied those who wished to conduct their business in conformity with the spirit of the laws with friendly guidance and delivered them from a nervous fear of the courts. They have released our foreign trade from the shackles of a tariff contrived in the interest of special groups of favored producers, and have created a Tariff Commission intended to substitute public for private influences, facts for theories and pretensions, in all future legislation with regard to duties and restrictions on imports. They have made provision for the immediate and systematic development of our carrying trade on the seas They have at last supplied the means by which the nation may be bound together, materially and spiritually, by a network of good roads upon which both commodities and sympathies may move freely from community to community. They have put the farmer upon a footing of perfect equality with business men and men of all other callings in respect of his access to commercial credit; have placed a great bureau of the Government at his service in seeking and finding his best markets; have protected him by the establishment of definite standards in the sale of his products, and have put the scientific knowledge of the world at his disposal by practical demonstration at the expense of the Government upon the farms themselves. They have emancipated the laborers of the country from the unjustified restraints which the courts had put upon them by mistaken applications of old law to new circumstances and conditions. They have released the children of the country in large part from hurtful labor; have sought to safeguard the lives and the health of our laborers in dangerous occupations; and have put agencies of the Government itself at the service of those who seek employment. And most of these things have been done within the brief limits of a single administration.

And still the great work is not finished. It can never be rounded off and concluded so long as circumstances change and the fortunes and relations of men shift and alter. The question you have to decide one week from next Tuesday is whether it shall be prematurely interrupted, perhaps for a generation to come, and all the generous forces of the world thrown back upon themselves in discouragement and confusion.

The programme remaining is as great as the programme accomplished. The procedure of our courts is antiquated and a hindrance, not and aid, in the just administration of the law. We must simplify and reform it as Western States Will Snow Hughes Under. All Reports from Region Between Great Lakes and Pacific Coast Show Tremendous Enthusiasm for Wilson. Not a Certain Hughes State in All That Vast District. Democrats Expect 1904 Over Again, But With the Shoe on the Other Foot this Time---State Estimates from Ohio to California Presage a Landslide. . . . . .

CHOOSE, VOTERS!

Are YOU for Wilson, Progress and Peace, or for Hughes, Reaction and War?

It is now just four days until election. The franchise is the priceless gift of free institutions. It contains your liberty; apportions authority and power; direct Americans destiny

It is your patriotic duty, in making your choice of candidates and parties, to sound the issues to their depths. Apply your best thought, THEN APPEAL TO YOUR CONSCIENCE FOR THE VERDICT. LET YOUR BEST SELF SPEAK NOVEMBER 7, AND LET EVERY QUALIFIED VOTER IN AMERICA SPEAK.

Your choice this Fall is a choice between

Justice and Injustice.

Equality of Opportunity and Restricted Opportunity.

The Interest of the Masses and the Interests of the Classes.

Government predicted upon Living Principles of Morality, Law and Right and Government Subservient to the Selfish and Unscrupulous FOES OF AMERICAN INSTITUTIONS AND OF AMERICA.

Such are the root questions. Where do YOU stand?

All Democrats, Independents, Progressives and Republicans by the many, many thousands, hundreds of the leaders of American art, commerce, industry, science and economic thought, ask you to vote for Woodrow Wilson. They ask this because Woodrow Wilson stands for Justice against Injustice, for Equality of Opportunity against Restricted Opportunity, for the Masses against the Classes, for Government Based upon the Living Principles of Morality, Law and Right against Government Subservient to Selfish an Unscrupulous Foes of American Institutions and of America We who support Woodrow Wilson assert, believe and KNOW this BECAUSE BY HIS RECORD HE HAS PROVED IT.

President Wilson speaks and leads in behalf of the great cause of clean, popular and thoroughly American government. Around Hughes, on the other hand, are grouped the leaders of reaction, the spokesmen of privilege and the enemies of an American America They seek the triumph of injustice over justice, of restricted opportunity or special privilege over equality of opportunity, of the classes over the masses, and of narrow, selfish, sordid rules of action and policy over rules based upon morality and the fundamental laws of humanity.

Such is the contrast between the candidates and the parties. CHOOSE, VOTERS!

Take international affairs. Do YOU to-day really regret that YOU, YOUR SON, YOUR BROTHER OR YOUR HUSBAND, instead of pursuing your or their peaceful occupations, are not killing Germans, or Frenchmen, or Englishmen, or Scotchmen, or Irishmen, or Bulgars, or Russians, or Italians, or Mexicans? Do you really?

WITH NO NEED TO GO TO WAR, WILSON HAS KEPT YOU OUT OF WAR. He has said.

1. That with the rest of the world proclaming and enacting a carnival of murder, America must hold high above the confusion of slaughter the living principles of morality, law and right.

2. That the wealth and might of America shall not belie its high mission in European affairs by callously disregarding the living principles of morality, law and right in dealing with a weak and helpless neighbornation upon the American Continent—to wit, Mexico.

VOTERS, DO YOU OR DO YOU NOT UPHOLD WOODROW WILSON IN THESE POLICIES?

They say Woodrow Wilson is a coward.

Never before in the history of America has so vile a slander been directed against a President of the United States by other than the mere prostitutes of politics.

Is the man who faced and fought and drove from control of national affairs the forces of organized cor-

Mrs. Ellen Reed

The friends of Mrs Ellen Reed, widow of the late John P. Reed, were shocked to hear of her rather sudden death which occurred on Saturday morning, October 28th, at the home of W S Reed, East Penn St., Bedford where she has resided since the death of her husband. For about ten days she had been complaining of a cold but just as she was thought to be getting better pneumonia developed and the end came speedily. Mrs. Reed was a daughter of Phillip Weisel and his wife Anna Mary Nycum Weisel and was born July 4th, 1838. She is survived by one son, Paul Reed, by one sister, Henrietta Lucinda Weisel and a brother, William Weisel, all of Bedford. Born of Christian parents she was early baptized by the Rev. Geo. Leidy. Her whole life was a beautiful testimony to the sincerity of her Christian profession She was a faithful member of St. John's Reformed Church and from early girlhood was active in every phase of the church work. The funeral, which was largely attended was held on Monday afternoon, October 30th, and was conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. Albert Eyler. THE DANGERS OF GLUTTONY

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D. LL. D. Commissioner of Health.

The children of the Iriquois Indians it is said, were trained to eat frugally and taught that overeating was far worse than under-eating. They were warned that gluttons would be caught by a monster known as Sagodakwus, who would humiliate them in a most terrible manner if he found that they were gourmands.

With the price of food stuffs soaring to almost unheard of figures, in thousands of households the question of where and how to save on food supply is an important one. Most people eat more than they need. This is particularly true of that class of individuals engaged in sedentary occupations.

Perhaps you do not feel that you come under this head, but suppose you try a few experiments. Make some slight investigation of the nutritive values of the different foods, cut your excessive allowances, eat slowly, and drink plenty of water but not at meal times.

It is said that the Indians had but two regular meals a day. The Iriquois had but one. Certain it is that an increasing percentage of our population succumb to degenerative diseases and the concensus of medical opinion is that overeating is an important causative factor.

Next week a word will be said on the possibility of eating too much and yet starving to death.

HUGHES MEN FEAR PENNA. SENTIMENT

Attitude of Workmen in Pittsburgh District Thought to Endanger Candidate

Pittsburgh Oct. 29.—Sudden realization that Allegheny County, embracing a huge workman population engaged in industries operating twenty-four hours a day in Pittsburgh, Homestead, Braddock, McKeesport, Wilmerding and East Pittsburgh, probably belongs in the doubtful column for the Presidential election, has dropped a real scare into the ranks of the Hughes managers in rock-ribbed Republican Pennsylvania.

If this county should fail to give its expected 30,000 plurality for Hughes it would mean danger to the Republican candidate in the State.

Wires between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, the home city of Senator Boies Penrose, were kept buzzing yesterday and to-day in appeals for help, financial and vocal, for the western counties, on the strength of inside reports showing four Republican Congressional candidates in heretofore strong Republican districts in danger.

W. H. Coleman, in the Thirtieth and A. J. Barchfield, in the Thirty-second, are chiefly in danger. Barchfeld was hooted down at a meeting of workmen, almost resulting in a "rough house," which he attempted to address on the south side one night last week. Representing districts where thousands of railroaders reside, both Coleman and Barchfeld voted against the Eight Hour Law, and the brotherhood officials are centering a well organized fight on them.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 5.

SHIPWRECKED AT MELITA (Malta)

LESSON TEXT—Acts 27:38—28:10.
GOLDEN TEXT—Jehovah redeemeth the soul of his servants; and none of them that take refuge in him shall be condemned.—Ps. 34:22.

Paul was at Malta three months, from the last of November to the last of February, A. D. 59. A bay on the north shore is still called St. Paul's bay. Much help on this lesson can be secured by reading Mr. James Smith's book on the "Voyage and Shipwreck of St. Paul," Sir William Ramsey's, "St. Paul, the Traveler," and "Everyday Men," by Robert Elliott Thompson.

I. Paul safely ashore (27:38-44). As the day dawned the ship was lightened for a third time to enable them to approach nearer to the shore. This time the main cargo of wheat was thrown out, heretofore having been saved as long as possible. The sailors were familiar with Malta, but not with this part where the ship now lay. Discovering a small creek, they perceived a certain bay with a beach upon which they might run the ship, and hold it without its going to pieces before they could land. It would have been impossible to escape if they ran upon the rocks in a heavy sea. The words "taken up anchor" (v. 40) indicates that the sailors had cast them overboard, but attached to the ship. Now they cut the cables and permitted themselves not to be anchored but to blow with the storm that they might land upon the beach. Approaching the inlet, where the waters of the bay met that of the sea, "where the two seas met," the vessel would not answer to its helm. The ship probably drew about 18 feet of water, and the bottom stuck in the clinging mud and clay, and the forepart began to break away from the rear, due to the violence of the waves. Here Paul had his most narrow escape (v. 42). Not alone was he on the point of losing his life by the sea, but the sword hung over his head, not that of a lawful executioner, but of a selfish murderer.

Before it was danger from the sailors; now it is the soldiers, but the centurion proved true, and all of the prisoners were saved for Paul's sake. It would be interesting speculation as to how many of those saved realized that they were not for Paul's sake, but for the sake of his Savior, and how many of them were duly grateful. On this second stage of the journey, after having left Caesarea with the larger ship, there were probably 276 persons, by God's guaranty was "there shall be no loss of any man's life," and his word is sure.

II. Paul's continued service (28:1-10). This island is today and has been since 1800 under British rule. It was then governed by the Romans. (1) Comfort (vv. 1, 2). The term "barbarian" does not indicate rudeness or uncivilized people, but merely those of non-Greek birth. These people kindled a fire because of the cold and of the rain. They received everyone, prisoners and soldiers like brothers, and, in the persons of Paul and Luke, they certainly entertained angels unawares. (Heb. 13:2). (2) Co-operation (v. 3): The fire would need continual replenishing. Again Paul's energy is conspicuous. Though the greatest of men then living, he was ready to do the humblest duty. Whether counseling about a difficulty or comforting under dangers, he was ready to relieve distress at all times, and thus held up the banner of the cross and proved his Christian spirit.

As Paul gathered the roots and put them upon the fire there came out a viper, probably benumbed by the cold, which fastened itself upon his hand. There are now no venomous serpents in Malta, but this is no reason to believe th in the earlier days, when sparsely habited, this common European ent, known as the viper, or possibly e Egyptian asp, may not have been here. It was natural for superstitious nations to expect that this was the vengeance of a god brought upon Paul because no doubt he was a murderer. Having escaped from the wreck, Paul could not escape from the sword of divine justice, and the goddess of justice, Nemesis, the avenger, suffered him not to live. With perfect composure, doubtless arising from God's promises that Christ had made to his servants (Mark 16:18; Luke 10:19), and also the promises that he should preach the gospel in Rome, Paul shook the viper from his wrist. They then changed their minds, thinking that he must be a god (see Acts 14:8-19).

No reference is made to Paul's preaching, though, of course, that is taken for granted.

His words and deeds went along with his preaching.

They honored him with many honors, and loaded them with such things as were necessary, such as clothing and provisions, not of necessity, but out of kindness and love.

Service is one of the ways by which we can show to the world our life of faith.

Note also how these soldiers and sailors also profited by the life of service which Paul rendered.

EAST'S DISAPPOINTMENT IN HUGHES SUMMED UP

His Speeches Depressing and His Supporters Dejected, New York Evening Post (Ind.) Points Out

FAILURE MERCILESSLY BARED IN A WITHERING EDITORIAL

He Has a Hammer, But Not to Build Only to "Knock" Every Achievement of the Wilson Administration

In an editorial "The Hughes Disappointment" the New York "Evening Post" (Ind.), which has been neutral in the campaign, has summed up the judgment of the East upon Hughes's evasive course and has practically declared for Wilson.

"We need wait no longer," says the editorial, "'to pass judgment on the character and effect of his (Hughes') campaign for the Presidency. That it has been a woful disappointment to his friends and admirers there can be no manner of doubt. The evidence leaps into one's face. On all sides you discover the depression which the Hughes speeches have caused. On every side dejected Hughes men are to be encountered.

"It was said of Gen. Taylor, in 1848 that he was 'in the hands of his Committee.' We cannot believe this of Mr. Hughes. Whatever the theory he has gone upon, it is one which he had the chief part in framing, and which satisfied his own mind. If he was misled by anything, it must have been his own judgment of what the party situation demanded of him.

Commonplace Lot of Ideas

"In the first place, there was the need of bringing about Republican harmony. Past differences must be glided over. The common stock of ideas must be emphasized, if there was any hope of inducing Progressives and Republicans to 'embrace in a discrepant unity.' But that common stock of ideas turns out to be a very commonplace lot. It is Republicanism of the most routine and humdrum order that Mr. Hughes has made the staple of his speeches, so far as they have been at all constructive and forward-looking. A strong and efficient government; a stiff dose of protection; a keen sense of the importance of business. That is about all. But that is the kind of Republicanism in which Mr. Hughes was bred and it is not so strange that it comes out now.

"Nothing was too small for him to notice; even a minor slip might be the badly drawn clause that vitiated the contract. But keeping this kind of thing up for two months has necessarily given Mr. Hughes the air of a chronic and petty fault-finder.

Nothing but a "Hamm er"

"Carlyle's question might be put to him: 'Hast thou only a torch to destroy? Hast thou no hammer with which to build?' Mr. Hughes has a hammer, but he uses it only to 'knock' every Democratic act or failure to act. Even his prompt and bold attack on the passage of the Eight-Hour law has managed to lose itself in his general scolding.

"Whatever may be the true reading of the riddle of Hughes in this campaign, the effect of his course is known of all men. He may have offended nobody, but he has won nobody. He has left the country cold. Thousands who were ready to be drawn to him are left halted between two opinions. Most of the votes cast for him will be without zeal or vivid anticipation. The whole is an extraordinary thing, quite unforeseeable. The campaign in general cannot be said to have been stimulating; Mr. Hughes's part in it has been a positive depressant."

RIPS LID OFF HUGHES, SHAMS

Republican Campaign Merely Noise, Bainbridge Colby Tells Chicagoans

In a ringing speech at Cohan's Grand Opera House, in the center of the Loop District of Chicago, recently, Bainbridge Colby, the noted New York Progressive, tore the lid off Republican shams and unmasked the grinning skeltons of Wall Street lurking in the Hughes trenches. Mr. Colby's speech was a vote-getter, and it has caused considerable uneasiness at Western Republican headquarters. Here are some of the things he said:

"The air is filled with hissing shrieks, rantings, ravings, not to speak of liquid fire and asphyxiating gases. Every detonating humbug and political caliope in the country has been drafted into service, and the noise is something awful. But it is only noise, after all. The Jeremiah O'Learys, the Roosevelts, the Koolbles, the Roots, the Beveridges are endeavoring to envelop the President in a curtain of fire under which the cohorts of Wall Street and Privilege hope to sweep once more into power.

"In the meantime, Hughes pursues his dark-lantern campaign of cowardly evasion, hoping to draw unto himself the support of every disloyal, alien, corrupt and un-American element in the country. I hereby formally reannounce the high opinion in which for many years I held Mr. Hughes. He has the support of the munitions makers and the holders of the English loan and dares not say what he would do to stop the interference with our neutral commerce by the British Navy. He is trying to play both ends against the middle on every question, and hopes thereby to get the votes coming and going."

It ill-becomes Leslie M. Shaw—under whom as Secretary of the Treasury the panic of 1907 developed, with $300,000,000 of failure liabilities—to attack the Federal Reserve Act, which is insurance against the Shaw type of panics. He is following the example of his 100% prototypeHughes, who has declared war on all the Wilson progressive measures.

Wilson has done more than any other President. Hughes complains that he has done most things wrong. But Hughes does not say what he would have done.

BALL PLAYERS FOR WILSON

Form Campaign Club and Ty Cobb Heads Delegation of Callers

New York, Oct. 30—Because they like fair play, and because they believe President Wilson to be a fair player, a score or more of America's heroes of the diamond called on the President at Shadow Lawn on "Wilson Day" to inform him that they had organized the Woodrow Wilson Club of professional ball players.

"This fellow has been up against it, and we've got to stand by him," declared Ty Cobb today. "He has done what he started out to do at the beginning of the Presidential season and has made good. You'll find the ball players for him, hook, line and sinker. They know better than anybody what a fickle public can do to a man. He has stuck to his knitting, listening to none of the clamor from the grandstand. You can't beat that kind of a man."

Hans Lobert, of the Giants is chair man of the new Wilson Club, Jack Daubert, of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is first vice chairman; Grover Hartley, of the St. Louis Browns, is second vice chairman; George Burns, of the Giants, is treasurer, and Ty Cobb, chairman of arrangements. The membership includes a majority of professional baseball players throughout the country. President Wilson has made himself more popular among the baseball men than any of his predecessors, because of his sports manlike interest in the game and the fact that all the clubs that play at Washington are received at the White House.

PARKER SAYS TO LET WELL ENOUGH ALONE

Why Progressive Nominee for Vice-President Advocates the Re-election of Mr. Wilson

In his address in New York City last week accepting the Progressive nomination for the Vice-Presidency, John M. Parker, of Louisiana, passion ately urged all true Progressives to vote for Woodrow Wilson and mercilessly exposed Theodore Roosevelt's "betrayal" of the Progressive cause.

"I am not a Democrat, he said, "but I believe the thanks of this nation are due to Woodrow Wilson for what he has accomplished in the shape of progressive 'legislation that has brought untold millions happiness and prosperity.

"True Progressives have lived up to their slogan: 'Pass Prosperity Around,' and as an earnest, ardent Progressive I offer another slogan for 1916: 'Leave Well Enough Alone.'"

Mr. Parker quoted several of Theodore Roosevelt's professions of undying devotion to the Progressive Party He pointed out that on October 3, 1913, Roosevelt said: "Win or lose, whatever the outcome, I am with you, and I am in this cause to fight to the end. Iwill never abandon the men and women who drew around me to battle for these principles."

Mysophobia.

The famous dictionary compiler, Dr. Samuel Johnson, was impelled to touch and count all the palings in fences he passed, and if he thought he had missed one he would start back and repeat the nonsensical enumeration Mysophobia is an annoying obsession of this sort and more frequent than supposed, as the patients try to keep their peculiar behavior from notice. It is a fear of uncleanliness or of contamination.

Couldn't Shoot Straight.

Little Ned had been a bad boy, swearing in the presence of the preacher. His mother had corrected him, telling him that the lightning would strike him if he was profane. Young America looked solemn, then his face brightened as he replied: "I say, mamma, I guess he meant that bolt for me which struck the church next door, but the angels can't shoot straight."

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 30—Congressman Warren Worth Bailey in a Washington journal entitled "Searchlights on Congress" is not placed in the list of "Mawsh" members of the house—"Might As Well Stay Home." A copy of the journal received this week shows that only one other Pennsylvania member of the house besides Mr. Bailey is not included in the "Mawsh" list—the list of those who have stayed home more than they have been on the job. Congressman Bailey is honored by reason of his uniformly faithful attendance at the sessions of the house.

Speaking of the prospects of his re-election next week, Mr. Bailey said: "I cannot but feel that I will be returned for another term. Certainly I believe that I am deserving of the honor; because I have at all times tried to carry out faithfully the wishes of my constituents and have not allowed my opinions to be swayed by any untoward influences. I supported legislation in the interest of labor and the farmers and I believe that my support among the workers will be strong. I believe that the president's peace policy meets with the approval of our people and I am happy to have had my share in the shaping of that policy. That we are at peace with all the world is one of our greatest blessings."

An Easy Mark.

Lessing, the celebrated German poet, was remarkable for a frequent absence of mind. Having missed money at different times, without being able to discover who took it, he determined to put the honesty of his servants to the test and left a handful of gold on the table. "Of course, you counted it?" said one of his friends. "Counted it!" said Lessing, rather embarrassed; "no, I forgot that."

Would Wait Awhile.

"Mrs. Grant has a new baby at her house. Wouldn't you like to see it?" Elmer, who had been out seeing a litter of day-old kittens, hesitated. "Guess I'll wait till it gets its eyes open."

FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 3, 1916.

In our issue of October 20th, we challenged the Everett Press to pry out of Smith if possible if he stood for local option and if he did, whether it was county or district local option. Nothing has as yet developed over his signature and we do not hesitate to say that nothing will. Ask him how he stands on the temperance question and notice his evasion. It's as clear as a bell No temperance advocate can mistake the saloon chime in it If you are temperance at heart, you cannot support him.

Last week the Republican papers contained a denial of the statement in the Gazette concerning the whiskey which was dished out at the Robinsonville picnic a couple of months ago when M. D. Barndollar, John M. Clegg, Harry C. James and Edgar R. Smith connived together to visit that section of Bedford county for purposes unknown. The denial was only a statement not supported by any oath or testimony whatever and a very weak denial at that We wish to bring our assertions down to a more decided position that they would hold in a court of law. We understand that M D.Barndollar is talking prosecution which we invite with a great deal of anxiety because then we could make some five or six of those fellows who had liquor that day speak the truth in which they would not shield either, Smith, Barndollar, Clegg or James. The article states that they talked face to face with ministers when to the best our research, there was but one minister on the grounds and he never talked to James or Smith or Clegg. However, we are at a loss to know why any statement to that effect should carry any evidence that they did not have any whisky. We accused them for carrying whisky and making people drunk. Now, we know and can prove that there were people drunk at that picnic and that we are supplying testimony to state that whisky was seen in Smith's car, the car in which Smith, Barndollar, Clegg and James went to the picnic. This evidence was received by Mr Virgil Von Stein on the day of the picnic and by myself, the Saturday following the picnic and by Robert Barkman a few weeks ago.

Mr Rush Andrews of near Mattie will testify that he talked to a person who got whisky from the car and Mr. Baltzer Snyder, Jr., will also testify that he was invited to take a drink. These oaths could not be gotten in time for this issue but if necessary they will be forthwithcoming. We have no hesitency in saying that Besides there are about half a dozen who attended the picnic who acted queer and refuse to say YES or NO. but just grin when you ask them if they got any of the "good stuff."

My canvass of Bedford County has been very congenial. The people have been most kind to me, Prohibitionists, Socialists, Republicans Democrats, and Progressives and I wish to state now my keen appreciation of these good wishes and hospitalities. While I am not a farmer, the other two candidates claim they are, yet in my travels as Superintendent of the Schools, I learned as much about the needs of the farmer as my opponents since they speak of generalities. I like to come down to the point in everything that I can. There is one thing to my mind that interferes with the advancement of farming more than anything else, in my estimation, and that is the fakes in commercial transaction between farmer and stockholder, nursery man, manufacturer and sometimes farmer. A farmer will order hundreds of specified varieties of fruit trees, pay transportation, spend time in planting and caring for them and in five or ten years learn that he has been swindled by substitute of Ben Davis or Ganos. Or he will order thoroughbred hogs or cattle or horses or sheep and find after he has paid good money for thoroughbred, he has a half bred or worse. Or he will order chickens or eggs and find that the result is mongrels. Or he will order good seed grain and find that it is very inferior stuff, not tested and not up to the standard These are concrete examples of flagrant abuses to the farmer and they should be corrected. No body should be allowed to sell under a severe penalty of the law except as he represents. Just how we could legislate to prevent a stock concern in another state selling fraudulently in Pennsylvania is a question to be solved but it can be solved and should be solved

I consider these frauds the greatest interference to progressive farming so far as the general public is concerned and should be corrected by the companies filing of bonds of faithful performance of their agents in this State and hold all agents and bondsmen liable to the extent of the proven damage. I know hundreds of farmers over Bedford county who have been disappointed over their trees when they began to bear and they had no remedy in law.

They simply had to suffer the loss and inconvience and say nothing. The same with stock and grain. To be a farmer's candidate, you must know what the farmer needs. We have heard farmers' candidates before saying what they could do in general and when they got there they knew nothing specific and did nothing specific In my estimation we have a dearth of laws too many for the ordinary man to comprehend and digest for lack of time. I know many people in Bedford county who have been caught in the meshes of the law because they did not know the law and these were intelligent people too. There is too much law which does not conform to common sense They take away the liberties of the people and do not grant any benefits. It does not always take a farmer to know what a farmer needs nor does it always take a lawyer to know what a lawyer needs or a doctor to know what a doctor needs. We must legislate for all classes of people, the farmer, laborer, doctor, lawyer, etc

In my advocacy of State roads, I believe that the State ought to build the roads through the boroughs as well as the townships and maintain them

In the Workmen's Compensation act, instead of reducing the rates of premiums, I stand for a greater compensation. I think that act is the most humane, outside of the child labor law, of any passed for years.

Yours truly,
VICTOR E. P. BARKMAN.

" MURDER WILL OUT"

It's all out. If Hughes carries the election and Rose and Smith carry the district and County, William Brice, Jr., is slated for the post office here and John M. Clegg for Everett. This is the stipulation given to Clegg for his surrender to Penrose. How many Democrats have been fed the pap of the Everett Press on Prohibition, Independence, Anti-Penroseism by the slippery editor? Can their faith in this "snolligoster" maintain any longer? Go after his record and find out something for yourself. We know it from his infancy up and it might be well for you to investigate. He has a glass door through which you can see. Take a peep some time for yourself. He has no more convictions on the temperance question than Penrose himself has and every Progressive, Independent and Democrat knows his record.

Besides the Penroseites, if they win this election, openly boast that they intend to go after every Brumbaugh man in Bedford County, Charlie Longenecker, Charles R. Mock, W. B. Mock and all, and they also boast openly of trimming Governor Brumbaugh himself. It's a battle for supremacy. The Everett Press the recently converted Penrose organ, tries to make its readers beheve that the Progressives have the organization. Who thinks that Harry C James and Edgar R Smith are Progressives? It's idle talk for that kind of dope The Progressives of Everett are supporting Smith and Smith is the tool of the whiskey gang Consistency is always a jewel"

LANDSLIDE FOR WILSON M'CORMICK'S PREDICTION

Declares West Has Turned to Give President Tremendous Support.

EAST SAFELY DEMOCRATIC

Hitchcock's Admission Ohio Is Lost Regarded as Signifying Other States.

Chicago, Oct. 30—The West is "on fire for President Wilson" and "it looks like a landslide" for the Democratic candidate, is the opinion of Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the National Democratic Committee, as expressed by McCormick after conferring today, with Senator Thomas J. Walsh, manager of the Western Democratic headquarters. Latest reports from leaders in all States were discussed at the conference.

"The West has no edge on the East in this matter of loyalty tothePresident," McCormick said.

"The East is mighty warm in its support of Wilson and Democratic generally. It has improved daily for the last two weeks, and States that were doubtful may be counted safely for the President now."

"New York State, for instance, is for the President, and for him 'big' Leaders of local organizations in Greater New York confidently believe that the greater city will roll up one of the heaviest Democratic pluralities in many years

I see that Frank H Hitchcock claims the election of Hughes and gives a list of States that he professes to believe the Republicans will carry. Of the 26 States he claims for Hughes I do not regard six of them as certainly for the Republican candidate.

"The Wilson sentiment in Ohio that makes Hitchcock concede the State to the Democrats does not stop at imaginary States lines. It extends all over this section, and by this token, not to mention over-confidential reports and first-hand advices, we know that Illinois and Indiana also are for the President This same sentiment is sweeping the Pacific coast

"I confidently expect the President to carry Connecticut, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia The swing is toward the President, and that are no signs of abatement."

Georgetown Law School For Wilson.

Washington, Oct. 30—Another university has been added to the long list of those inwhich President Wilson has defeated Hughes in preelection polls. The students of Georgetown University Law School voted Wilson 335, Hughes 231.

PRINCE ALBERT

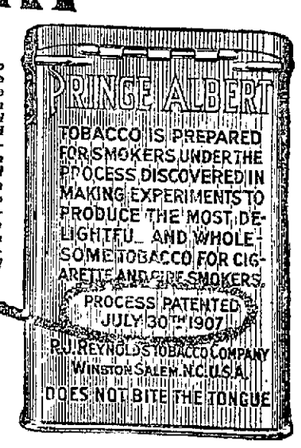
in goodness and in pipe satisfaction is all we or its enthusiastic friends ever claimed for it!

It answers every smoke desire you or any other man ever had! It is so cool and fragrant and appealing to your smokeappetite that you will get chummy with it in a mighty short time!

Will you invest 5c or 10c to prove out our say-so on the national joy smoke?

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO., Winston-Salem, N. C.

YOU'LL find a cheery howdy-do on tap no matter how much of a stranger you are in the neck of the woods you drop into For, Prince Albert is right there—at the first place you pass that sells tobacco! The toppy red bag sells for a nickel and the tidy red tin for a dime, then there's the handsome pound and half-pound tin humidors and the pound crystal-glass humidor with sponge-moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such bang-up trim all-the-time!



This is the reverse side of the Prince Albert tidy red tin. Read this "Patented Process" message-to-you and realize what it means in making Prince Albert so much to your liking.

Prince Albert gives smokers such delight, because —its flavor is so different and so delightfully good;

—it can't bite your tongue;
—it can't parch your throat;
—you can smoke it as long and as hard as you like without any comeback but real tobacco happiness!

On the reverse side of every Prince Albert package you will read:

"PROCESS PATENTED JULY 30TH, 1907"

That means to you a lot of tobacco enjoyment. Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality!

HURRAH FOR WILSON !

Notice was posted last week by the Colonial Iron Company that the laborers will be given an advance of 20 per cent, in their wages, due to the prosperity all over the Country and enjoyed by the Colonial Iron Company This is in direct contrast to former campaigns, when notices were posted to the effect that wages will be reduced 10 per cent., 10 days before the election. The notice shows that Wall Street doesn't have its fingers on the finances and prosperity of the Country any more, a condition for which the people may thank Woodrow Wilson. The common laborers can see the down-fall of Wall Street and will support the man who has taken the yoke from off his neck.

ruption a coward? Is the man upon whom all the powers of evil in this land have converged in the last three years and a half only to be thrown back and trodden out of government councils, a coward? Is the man who clings to the cause of right and justice through a time of such trial and selfish urgence as no President since Lincoln has undergone, a coward? Is the man who with disregard of political consequences, and in sharp contrast with the course of his chief political apponent, defied the disloyalist of this country—who publicly telegraphed Jeremiah O'Leary that he did not want his vote or the votes of any of his kind—A COWARD?

Those who want war, who are against Wilson because he has refused to allow America to be drawn unnecessarily into war, say he is a coward. VOTERS, WHO ARE THE COWARDS—WOODROW WILSON, OR THOSE WHO SLANDER HIM?

Turn to domestic affairs. Consider Woodrow Wilson's RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT at home.

Measure each great law in this marvelous Record by the fundamental American principles defined in this editorial. The Federal Reserve Act destroyed the System of Privilege which has so long dominated American finance and established equality of credit facilities, a condition absolutely essential to equality of opportunity.

The Rural Credits Act, the Agricultural Extension Act, the Good Roads Act have opened the doors of equal opportunity to the farmers of America and apply the living principles of morality, law and right to the Government's contacts with the farming industry. Just so, too, the Clayton Anti-Trust Act, the Anti-Injunction Law, the Seaman's Act and, yes, the Adamson Eight-Hour Law expand the opportunities and end unjust oppression of Labor, and declare the equality of Labor before the law. Take the Underwood Tariff, the Income Tax, etc., run through the entire long list, and you will see everywhere the principles of democracy and free institutions, gleaming like the threads of gold in quartz ore.

Read the RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT and remember that the men now dominant in the Hughes campaign voted against all these laws. VOTERS, ARE YOU FOR PROGRESS UNDER WILSON OR REACTION UNDER HUGHES?

VOTERS—

Your hands are not red with the blood of other men;

There are no empty places at your firesides;

Your country has not lost Honor, but rather has won Honor in full and lasting measure;

Your President is not a coward, but is a man to be proud of and of whom, no matter what you do now, YOUR SONS AND GRANDSONS WILL BE PROUD OF;

Your Government has been wrested from the grip of sinster and selfish interests and restored to YOU;

You are prosperous with a prosperity that is clean of blood and of corruption—and is distributed evenly over this land;

YOU HAVE PEACE AND YOU HAVE HONOR, AND YOU HAVE THE JUST REWARDS OF BOTH;

AND ALL THIS, VOTERS, WAS DONE FOR YOU BY WOODROW WILSON.

Worth Careful Thought

Do you read the label to know whether your baking powder is made from cream of tartar or, on the other hand, from alum or phosphate?

Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, derived from grapes, and adds to the food only wholesome qualities.

Other baking powders contain alum or phosphate, both of mineral origin, and used as substitutes for cream of tartar because of their cheapness.

Never sacrifice quality and healthfulness for low price.

The Members of the Bedford Bar Have Endorsed Judge Emory A. Walling for Supreme Judge

A number of the members of the Bedford Attorneys have signed an endorsement of the candidacy of Judge Emory A. Walling to succeed himself on the Supreme Court Bench and urge the voters of the County to support him at the election next week Judge Walling has had a wide experience as a practicing attorney and then as President Judge of Erie County. He was appointed to the Supreme Court and has shown that he has the knowledge of the law, that judicial poise and temperament, which makes him an admirable Judge.

Would Wait Awhile.

"Mrs. Grant has a new baby at her house. Wouldn't you like to see it?" Elmer, who had been out seeing a litter of day-old kittens, hesitated. "Guess I'll wait till it gets its eyes open."

Message of President Wilson

other enlightened nations have done, and make courts of justice out of our courts of law. We must seek and find the means of bringing capital and labor to a clear understanding of their common interests, which are no other than the interests of the nation itself as a community. We must release our great undeveloped natural resources upon some sensible plan of use and conservation. We must recruit the votes of forwardlooking men by the votes of women so that we may have a fresh insight in all matters of social reform and move more certainly and more promptly in the solution of the many new problems of society with which the law must henceforth deal. We must unite the Americas, North and South, in a new sympathy and cooperation. We must seek justice and the right through every channel that offers; and we must put America in all its force, in all its wealth, alike of physical power and spiritual enthusiasm, at the service of the other nations of the world when peace comes on the other side of the seas, to make that peace permanent by establishing it on the everlasting foundations of right, cooperation, equality and justice. These things we must do and all else that may serve mankind.

And our motto must be "COOPERATION," the union, not the hostile rivalry, of the forces of society within the nation and within the family of nations. The interests of mankind can never again be served by aggression; the interest of no nation or group of nations can ever again be served by aggression. The contests of jealously are as bitter and as dangerous as the contest of arms. The world must henceforth seek the means of accommodation, not the means of arresting quarrels merely. The nation we love and serve must be among the first and foremost of those that rise to the new ideals with spirit and well-directed force. Our own reforms, our own actions in the interest of justice and humanity must be the earnest of our spirit and purpose in the affairs of the world outside our own borders.

Such is the prospect, such is the programmme, my fellow-citizens, to which we look forward, to which it is our purpose to move forward with enthusiasm and irresistible ardor. We will not pause in the midst of our task. We know that we stand at one of the most critical junctures in the history of the world, when all hopes hang in the balance. We will suffer no man, no body of men, through timidity or fear or jealousy, to delay or hinder or embarrass us. Reaction can have no place of tolerance amongst us when all the world waits upon those who plan justice and progress. I summon you, not only to sustain, but to swell the hosts that have their faces now set towards the light, their eyes lifted to the horizons where the dawn of a new age begins to brighten; and I summon you with confidence, with a certain expectation of the part America and her great people are to play when the dawn broadens into day.

Which costs most—painting or waiting?

After your house needs painting, every year you wait it will require more paint and more labor to put it in good condition. And every year you wait, your house is worth less. A little paint-money is good paint-insurance.

Tuxedo Weather
by Walt Mason

Some days are dark and dank and dismal and men sit 'round in grief abysmal, and wish that they were dead; the rain is wet, the breeze is windy, and thunderbolts kick up a shindy, black clouds are overhead. Tuxedo brings a message cheerful to people who are sad and tearful, on dark and dreary days; Tuxedo soothes the trouble spirit, and manages to brace and cheer it, in fifty-seven ways. When mild Tuxedo I am smoking, the weather man may keep on joking and spring his sleet and snow; I watch his efforts from my casement; Tuxedo brings the prompt effacement of every grief I know. For when we smoke a weed which Science, with modern process and appliance, has made as good as this, we do not care a hoot for weather; our troubles all decamp together and leave us clothed in bliss. BACKING UP PROOF

The Kind That Bedford People Cannot Deny.

Many an earnest Bedford man or woman has publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills.

Week after week, month after month you've read their statements.

Would these Bedford people recommend any medicine if it were not good?

Would they confirm and repeat their statements after years had passed?

Local proof is good evidence.

Testimony confirmed years after is better evidence.

The following Bedford woman's statement leaves no room for doubt.

It must convince every kidney sufferer who reads it.

If your back aches—if your kidneys are weak, profit by Mrs. Davidson's experience:

Mrs. Martha Davidson, 357 West Pitt St., Bedford, says: "I was very nervous and had severe headaches. My back ached constantly and the least bit of work tired me. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I decided to give them a trial and got a box at Heckerman's Drug Store. In every way they acted just as represented and gave me prompt relief."

Over Six Years Later, Mrs. Davidson said: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills once in awhile since first endorsing them and they have kept me in good health."

The above statement must carry conviction to the mind of every reader. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs. Davidson has twice publicly recommended. The remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. POINT

On Monday, October 16th, the first day for hunting, found hosts of hunters, but not much game. Joseph Souser and one of Grant Miller's boys of Napier, Virgil Bowers of Point and Geo. W.Furgeson of Spring Hope, were each successful in getting a turkey apiece, all out of one flock. We have heard of some squirrels being shot but not many.

Cyrus W. Blackburn was on the sick list last week. He was some better on Sunday.

John Furgeson of Pittsburgh was the guest of the family of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Blackburn last week.

E. C. King of near Clearville was a Point visitor for several days last week.

Irvine Caltenbaugh of Johnstown was a guest of T. R. Studebaker for several days last week. He did some hunting while here.

Edgar Shaffer attended Fauple's sale at Mann's Choice on Saturday afternoon.

Nathan H. Risling has been seriously ill during the last week, but was reported some better on Saturday.

Husking corn, hauling apples and buckwheat to Fishertown Station was the order of the day last week.

What the Farmers Say

Columbus, Ind., R.D 3
Dear Sirs: Being very busy I did not get the U. S. Stock Food Tonic out of the freight office for about two weeks after it arrived. I began feeding it as soon as I got it home to about 120 head of hogs—brood sows and fattening hogs—and I must say that I have found it just as your agent recommended it to me.

We weigh our hogs every 30 days and found that the last month the 60 head of fat hogs had gained nearly 3,000 pounds, an average of about 50 pounds per hog. I am sure that your Stock Food has done this, for my hogs were not doing well until I began to feed it. Now I expect to have these hogs ready for February market and I would like to have another 250 pound barrel of the U. S. Stock Food Tonic at once.

Dear Sirs: You will find enclosed check for your U. S. Poultry Food. I was getting 15 to 20 eggs a day when your agent was here—that was four weeks ago. Now I am getting 55 to 60 eggs per day. I think it is the food to buy. Please send me 25 pound bucket at once.

STOP and think! How much high-priced feed is lost because your stock does not get the good of all it eats! It is economy to give your animals the tonic which will enable them to extract all the nutriment from their food.

Young animals reach maturity fully developed, and older stock are kept to a high standard of health and usefulness by U. S. Stock Food Tonic Not only quality, but quantity. The animals sold for flesh will give better meat and more of it; wool of your sheep will be finer, more abundant, the milk of your cows richer and more plentiful.

U. S. Poultry Food Tonic will keep the fowls in perfect health. And healthy fowls mean fertile eggs and lots of them. Poultry-raisers everywhere endorse it. Gives vigor, appetite, glossy plumage, prevents disease, and encourages the growth of the young chicks.

U. S. Animal Regulator is a great worm powder, but where worms are not present it is a great relief to the stock. A money-back guarantee accompanies these preparations if results fail when used according to directions

What Others Say

Byesville, O.
Gentlemen: We have been feeding the U. S. Stock Food Tonic for six years to the mules. We have 175 mules in the mines, and I can truthfully say that this tonic is the best conditioner we have ever used. It keeps the digestive system in perfect working order. It keeps the mules strong, feeling good and ready for their work. It keeps their hair glossy and sleek. It surely is a wonderful preparation. We have a great many mules working every day in the mines that are fat and sleek and ready to go to the market. We often buy mules which are out of condition and with long, rough hair. We put them to work in the mines and feed them a little U. S. Stock Food Tonic regularly with their feed. With this treatment it is just a short time until the rough coat is shed.

After feeding your goods so long to the large number of mules it has proven to us so valuable in every instance that I cannot recommend it too highly. I have had quite a lot of experience with other Stock Tonics but I must say that I have never been able to get such results as we are getting with the U. S.

OFF THE FENCE
NOW FOR WILSON

Dean of Northwestern University, Life-Long Republican, Supervisor of Census Under Taft, Declares For President

Chicago, Oct. 30—Willard E Hotchkiss, Dean of the Northwestern University School of Commerce, a lifelong Republican, who was supervisor of the Census in the Chicago district under President Taft, in a public statement says:

"I climbed down off the fence about two weeks ago. I am for Wilson. I make this statement because I believe it is the duty of a citizen to show his colors.

"I was raised in New York and have always been interested in New York politics. When I was still a student at Cornell, I began to develop Hughes enthusiasm, I followed Mr. Hughes's career before he was governor and while he was governor with great admiration.

"When it comes to legislation, the case is clear. No one but a great leader could haveput through Congress such an array of wise, conservative measures—and some of them were long overdue when Wilson became President. I know of no finer evidence of statesmanship than the way in which the Democratic Congress under Wilson's leadership accepted the results of the careful monetary study of the Aldrich commission, and enacted a law which embodied the correct monetary principles contained in the Aldrich report.

"I did not believe that the Democratic party in 1912 was thinking in national terms But now we have the evidence; whatever its history, whatever it may do in the future, however much it may employ Jeffersonian phraseology—here and now, under the leadership ofWoodrow Wilson, the Democratic party is the party which at least has borne the fruits of national policy, a policy for advancing the welfare of all the people

Georgetown Law School For Wilson.

Washington, Oct. 30—Another university has been added to the long list of those inwhich President Wilson has defeated Hughes in preelection polls. The students of Georgetown University Law School voted Wilson 335, Hughes 231.

WHY WILSON WILL AND SHOULD BE RE-ELECTED

Address Delivered by Louis Lombard Thursday Evening, October 19, Before the National Woodrow Wilson College Men's League, Hotel Biltmore, New York.

This summer, I motored from California, spending two months on the way to Washington, D. C. I asked everyone I met on ranches, farms, at stores, garages, theatres, hotels:

"Who's going to be the next President, and why?"

"Wilson, because he kept us out of war," was the invariable answer.

Three weeks ago in, Washington and New York City, I asked the same question. Republicans answered they were certain of Hughes' election. Some Democrats expressed doubts as to Wilson's success. Within the past week, however, Republicans are less optimistic and Democrats have become jubilant. Today Republicans complain that Hughes is a poor campaigner, that he is not magnetic; some also fear Roosevelt will be a liability, not an asset. They end by saying: "This is not going to be a walkover." On the other hand, Democrats and Independents are now sure of Wilson's election. This very evening all indications point to his success.

This conclusion is not based upon sentiment, nor is the wish father to my thought. During each campaign since that of '84, I had the good luck to pick out the winner weeks ahead, but never before was I so sure of the outcome as this year.

Having weighed the achievements of Wilson's administration, the independent thinker must vote for him

Before election day many Irish Roman Catholics will recall Roosevelt's discourtesy to the Vatican while on his theatrical tour through a bewildered and amused Europe. And they know a vote for Hughes means a vote for Roosevelt in the Cabinet. It is a false impression that most Roman Catholics are against Wilson. I am a Roman Catholic and have had the honor of translating verbally to the late Pope a communication from the head of one of theWorld Powers at the personal request of the Papal Secretary of State, Cardinal Merry Del Val. I can assert most emphatically that nearly all theRoman Catholics I know are going to vote for Wilson.

Before election day numerous Bull Moosers will remember the traitorous attempt to lasso and drag them into the reactionary corral.

German Americans know where Wilson stands. What his opponent may do can only be surmised. Regarding Hughes' policies prophecies are very difficult; he has said so little in so many voluminous speeches! This candidate, up to very recently, seemed to seek words to hide policies. Having at last, announced he would have broken relations with Germany on account of the Lusitania will he now be more popular among hyphenates? How would they fare with him as President, with the probability of having Root, Secretary of State, and Roosevelt, Secretary of War? A new administration I fear may spell war. A prominent Wisconsin man told me yesterday that Hughes lost many votes inWisconsin by his Louisville speech which was QUITE different from his Milwaukee speech. Furthermore, all the Germen-Americans are not loyal to Germany. Even Prof. Munsterberg, who ought to know, deplored that fact, much to our delight and to their credit. We do not need to be reminded that the overwhelming majority of citizens of Teuton origin have always been loyal Americans.

The Suffrage States will give a good account of themselves. No mother, wife, sister, sweetheart, or daughter wants to see her beloved one at the front.

The farmer who usually is a Republican was never so prosperous as now. Can he be craving for a change?

The voter should be warned daily to let well enough alone. He is enjoying peace and unprecedented prosperity, and should not drop his tried pilot for a tyro at the bidding of the "outs."

The business interests of the Nation will not suffer by Wilson's reelection as some foolish, orprejudiced, or designing self-appointed seers proclaim. Would businessmen like Underwood and Lovett help an administration detrimental to business? More such men will come under Wilson's banner before election day.

Some Republican friends of mine, large employers of men, fear labor will be more unjust and arrogant in its demands if Wilson remains President. Should labor be unjust and arrogant in its demands who, tell me, could speak to labor withmore sympathic frankness, with more authority and, consequently, with more persuasiveness than Wilson himself, the friend of all good citizens, be they presidents of corporations or laborers? Suppose the workingman became arrogant and unjust under a Republican administration? Would he be persuaded to mends his ways by the promises of the representative of the "interests"—his "pet aversion"? The humanitarian principles that inspired Wilson have given tangible results, and these results guarantee his successful adjustment of differences that may arise between capital and labor.

Some Republicans maintain Wilson has lessened the prestige of our diplomacy abroad. Gentlemen, allow me to state I know something about public opinion abroad. By the pen alone Wilson has done more for the prestige of our diplomacy than many other statesmen have accomplished by the sword.

If some disloyal citizen "of whom to be dispraised were no small praise refuse to vote for this great patriot, there will be enough loyal citizens to roll up an immense majority for him on the 7th of November.

In politics, as in business, honesty and even generosity is the best policy. Columbia has wisely befriended the friendless everywhere. Our treatment of Cuba, the remission of the Boxer indemnity to China, our help in the European maelstrom of blood and fire, and Wilson's intervention in chaotic, misgoverned Mexico forced upon him by some of its irresponsible politicians shall prove, as in the past, that an investment in goodness repays the best interest.

The prophetic vision of the founders and preservers of our country shall ever excite admiration. In American history there is no greater record of intellect, experience, clairvoyance and achievement than may be found in the words and deeds of Woodrow Wilson.

Intricate problems have been solved and still greater ones will be solved To prepare us for that task, let us be guided, as is the President, by the humanitarian principles underlying the Nation—a Sanctuary whose keystone is a God-inspired constitution and whose ritual is the service of mankind.

May endless generations fulfill the destiny of this richest, and what is better yet, this most altruistic land —not a country of Anglo-Saxons, nor of Teutons, Latins or Slavs, not the Nation of any single race, but a Commonwealth of inventive, courageous, compassionate men of all races, creeds and climes, with one language and under one flag harmoniously fulfilling the glorious destiny of a democracy unique in the world's history, thanks to altruistic statesmen like Washington, Lincoln and Wilson, whose broad sympathies have truly made of our republic, The Republic of Humanity!

The QUEEN vs. a KING

Resolutions Adopted by 1916 General Conference of the METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Personal Abstinence:—

Believing total abstinence from the use of all intoxicants and narcotics to be the proper practice of the individual, we urge uponour people the importance of education, moral suasion, and pledge signing that the individual may be saved.

Prohibition

We stand for the abolition of the whole liquor traffic, and declare prohibition to be the only proper attitude of civil government toward a thing so baneful and pernicious. That there may be the speediest possible suppression of the traffic, we recommend to our people prompt and aggressive participation in every wise movement for local, State and National prohibition. What the Czar of Russia is able to do for his people in the excercise of arbitrary power, we, the people of this free Nation, in the exercise of our own sovereignty ought to do for ourselves and for our posterity.

Federal Action.

We respectfully but earnestly demand of the Congress to submit promptly to the Legislatures of the several States for their ratification, and amendment to the Federal Constitution providing for the absolute prohibition of the liquor traffic throughout theUnited States

T. R. talks about the message he wrote in 1908 asking for a bigger navy. Democrats only point to the bigger navy that did not exist until they got into power. Republican words against Democratic deeds—that's all.

HUGHES INDORSER RECANTS

Labor Editor Liked Him as Governor, But is for Wilson Now

Troy, N. Y., Oct. 29—The only conspicuous representative of labor on whom Charles E. Hughes has thus far been able to rely in his effort to alienate wage earners from President Wilson today gave out a statement declaring for President Wilson's reelection. He is John M. O'Hanlon, editor of the Legislative Labor News whose editorial indorsing Hughes' record as Governor has been widely circulated by the Republican managers and repeatedly read from the platform by the candidate himself. O'Hanlon said·

I have been supporting President Wilson for re-election, both in the columns of my paper and wherever I have had the opportunity to express my convictions orally, ever since he has accepted a renomina ion. Mr. Wilson has earned the unstinted support of every wage-earner of the country by the splendid program of humanitarian legislation he has championed and put into effect at the National capital.

The quoted articles in the issue of the Legislative Labor news of October, 1910, giving credit to Governor Hughes for his approval of labor while Governor of this State, is based on fact. A similar appreciation could have been issued of the work of Gevernor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey. Since that period both have occupied national spheres of action. Mr. Wilson as President has fulfilled every expectation aroused by his career as Governor. Mr. Hughes has not.

As a candidate for President, Mr. Hughes has declared his opposition to the Wilson program of legislation and seized upon the Eight hour law for railroad men to emphasize that opposition. In discussing it he has attacked the sincerity and intelligence of organized labor and charged it with greed by declaring that it intimidated Congress into enacting a "wage law" designed to create extra wages for more than eight hours of work a day. The chief object of the railroad men and all other workers is to prevent more than eight hours work a day by exacting higher prices for extra hours.

The entire labor movement of the State of New York, almost without exception, is in favor of the re-election of President Wilson. The record of his achievement in Congress is such that no wage-earner, whether a member of organized labor or not, should fail to support him for re-election.

PERKINS SENT HIM T. R. SPEECH, SAYS GOMPERS

Declares He Was Asked to Revise Address Colonel Made in Kansas City

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Samuel Gompers in an address to labor leaders said of Col. Roosevelt's statement that President Wilson in the Eight Hour Law matter was playing second fiddle to Gompers:

"Why should Col. Bombastes Furioso hit at the President through me? Why, I hold the proof in my hands that only a few months ago I got a message from George W. Perkins to run down to Oyster Bay and pass on the speech that the Colonel was to deliver in Kansas City. When I declined he sent a messanger with a copy of the speech to me in Washington. He asked me to revise it in accordance with my ideas. The corrections in the speech he sought advice on were in the handwriting of Col. Roosevelt."

Then after telling of conferences he held with T. R. as Police Commissioner, Governor and President, Mr. Gompers said:

"I leave it to your judgment whether the Colonel played second fiddle."

Coming to the Mexican issue Mr. Gompers referred to Roosevelt again as Bombastes Furioso, who wanted to "go down there and clean them up at once."

"There have been but two revolutions in Mexico in recent years," he said, "which have not been financed by Standard Oil and Wall Street. Did you ever hear of Harry Chandler and his gang gathered along the Pacific Coast? Chandler is the son-in-law of Harrison Grey Otis of the LosAngeles Times, owner of 67,000 acres in Lower California. The scheme was to grab Lower California and then declare it independent so that this Government would have to take it under its wing

"They had raiding parties all along the Coast and ships too. The President put a stop to it all."

THE CLOSING CAMPAIGN

The Independent Weekly at the beginning of the present Presidential campaign assumed as near an independent attitude as possible but openly took the side of Hughes. Every week this magazine had two articles written, one by an advocate of Hughes, the other by a Wilson man. In this week's issue it sums up these articles in the following sketch:

It has been a clean campaign. It has been prosecuted with vigor on both sides more especially on the side of the opposition. This is natural, for it is the opposition which must attack, while the party in power has only to stand upon its record. But the fire of the attack has been directed against Mr. Wilson as President, and not against Mr Wilson as the man; while the fervor of his counter-attack has been aimed at his opponents as a party and not at Mr. Hughes himself.

The campaign has not brought forth any clean-cut issues like that of free silver or anti-imperialism. It is not the fact that the Republicans are for preparedness and the Democrats against it. The Democratic Congress and President passed such a huge program of military and naval expenditure in the closing days of the last session as to spike their opponents guns pretty effectively. The tariff no longer appears as the gulf which separate irretrievably "good" Republicans and "good" Democrats, if a Republican Administration is elected, it will not go into office with an unmistakable popular mandate to revise the tariff.

There are three high spots in the campaign. The first is the Democratic record of legislation—a record of unusual fulness and excellence. It is on this record primarily that the administration asks to be retained in power. This record the Republicans have been chary of attacking.

The second is the administration's foreign policy. Here the Republicans led by Mr. Hughes and Mr. Roosevelt attack with horse, foot, dragoons and artillery. Democrats counter with slogan, "He kept us out of war."

The third is the railroad eight-hour law and the method of its passage. But even here the issue is not too clearly joined. Mr. Hughes criticizes strongly what he denomintes the surrender of the principle of arbitration in labor disputes and the yielding to the threats of a part of a community. Mr. Wilson asserts his belief in the fundamental justice of the eight-hour working day and the propriety of acting quickly to avert the calamity of a nation-wide strike.

On the personal side of the campaign Mr. Hughes has disappointed many of those who would naturally support him, because he has been content with attacking and criticizing and has not set forth a big constructive programme of his own. Mr. Wilson on the other hand, has done nothing but satisfy his supporters by his campaign utterances. He has had the easier task, for it is the record of his administration, its achievements and its spirit, that speaks for him.

SPRECKELS FOR WILSON

Noted California Reformer Joins in Landslide of Independents.

New York, Oct. 30—As the campaign draws to a close, the drift of independent political opinion to President Wilson becomes a landslide.

E. C Benedict, the late President Cleveland's closest friend, who has not always been a Wilson man, announced his support of President Wilson today. In a letter to the Democratic National Committee, Commodore Benedict says:

"I am doing my best in public and in private in working for the re-election of President Wilson. The one dominant feature of the campaign is peace and prosperity, resulting from Mr. Wilson's wise and stubborn adherence to efforts to maintain it in this country at all hazards."

From San Francisco word came today that Rudolph Spreckels, a progressive Republican, who is as active in civic reform as he is in business and who financed the San Francisco graft prosecution, has announced himself for President Wilson.

The same message brought the news of a like decision by the noted Progressive exChief Justice Matt I. Sullivan of the California Supreme Court. It also told of the resignation from the Republican State Committee of H. L. Baggerly, editor of The San Jose Evening News, and Albert I. Loeb, a prominent San Francisco lawyer, who was a progressive leader. Both are working for the re-election of Mr. Wilson.

Bishop F. L. McConnell, of Minnesota, sent the following message today to Joseph M. Price, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Woodrow Wilson Independent League:

"I heartily favor the election of Woodrow Wilson, and I deeply regret that I cannot come East to make speeches for him."

Mr. Price also received word today from Seattle that Robert Moran, former Mayor of Seattle, and founder of the great shipbuilding company, the Seattle Construction and Dry Dock Company, which built the battleship Nebraska, a life-long Republican, has come out for President Wilson. The message, which came from George R. Martin, secretary of the Washington branch of the Independent League, states that there are 62 affiliated Wilson leagues in the State with a total membership of 21,700.

Your Million

There's a dollar at each end of a million. The first dollar is most important. It means the start. Put that first dollar in bank at interest on a savings account; add to it and let it grow. You will then be on the road to financial independence.
